Why Law Enforcement Learning?

Better learning outcomes

Research indicates online learning is more effective than in-person learning

Dozens of studies suggest online students obtain information and learn practical skills at a rate equal to or greater than their in-person counterparts. For law enforcement and security entities, delivering online courses through Law Enforcement Learning can help increase the amount of information officers learn and retain.

Cost & time savings

Research indicates online learning is less expensive than traditional classroom learning

Dozens of studies suggest distance learning can save content producers and consumers by leveraging technology and increasing efficiency. Distance learning saves costs in five major areas:

- A reduction in student-teacher time
- Replacing labor hours
- Economies of scale
- Modularization of content
- Reduced classroom costs

Our Mission

Technology and culture are changing the way people think, learn, and share information.

We help trainers respond so they do not lose the ability to connect with their target audiences.

Law Enforcement LEARNING

Secure

Deliver your sensitive content with confidence

Your law enforcement or security content is sensitive, and Law Enforcement Learning employs a robust combination of advanced technologies and manual processes to keep it safe. From AES encryption to secure cloud storage and manual LEO verification to custom enrollment options, we make sure you can deliver your content to your audience without fear of compromise, unauthorized access, or data theft.

Effective

Develop instructionally sound learning experiences

The most effective distance learning courses have clear learning objectives, well-crafted content, and multiple opportunities for officers and instructors to interact and engage. Law Enforcement Learning's content options and design packages can help you develop a course that employs these and other pedagogical techniques and, in the process, increase learning and information retention.

Accessible

Minimize delivery costs and maximize accessibility

Learn wherever you are, whenever you want. Law Enforcement Learning's responsive design allows you to take or teach classes across platforms. Build or take classes on your desktop, tablet, or phone, and say goodbye to in-house network issues, server concerns, and technology problems. Just login and get to work.
